City grants rezoning despite legal threats

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Despite threats of legal action, the City Council approved a Plan Commission recommendation to rezone an area of Johnson Road.

The action came at the council's Sept. 22 meeting with little discussion.

Property at 2057 Johnson Road, the former Midtown Pharmacy business, was rezoned from residential to commercial use. The property had a "non-conforming" use when the pharmacy was in operation.

The property owners, who are not identified because the property is in a blind trust, want to sell the property to a day care center, said George Filcoff, the property's trustee.

Filcoff told the Plan Commission last week the day care center would not move into the building until the rezoning was granted.

Nearby residents, led by the Clark-Mercer Neighborhood Confederation, opposed the rezoning because, they say, the rezoning petition was not done properly and they fear that the area of Johnson Road will be entirely rezoned to commercial use.

Six properties on Johnson Road, in a block bordering Wabash Avenue and a Metro East Sanitary District drainage ditch, have been rezoned from residential to commercial in the last 18 months. The Clark-Mercer group has hired Granite City attorney Leon Scroggins.

"The city might very well face a challenge. There's certainly a question," Scroggins told the council.

At issue is the petition to rezone that involved three properties, including the pharmacy property.

The other two sites — an ice cream shop and a church — were needed to join the petition in order for the pharmacy to be rezoned because the pharmacy did not meet a one-acre minimum size requirement.

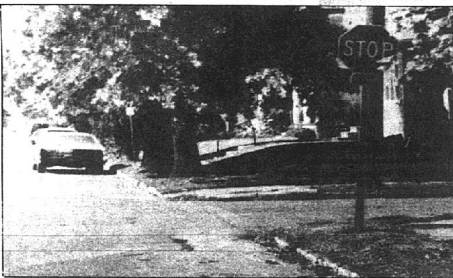

When letters were sent to inform nearby residents of the petition being on a Plan Commission agenda, as required by state law, the owners of the other two properties had not signed the petition and not all the residents received notices.

By the time the petition was considered at the Plan Commission's Sept. 21 meeting, the signatures were there.

Spokeswoman for the confederation, Sandy Crites, contends all property owners should have signed the petition as owners of record before the notice was mailed to residents; otherwise, she says, the petition was not valid.

Assistant City Attorney Ed Fitzhenry offered a legal opinion to the commission that said the owners' signatures were not required when the petition notice was mailed but were required on the petition when it was presented to the commission.

Fourth Ward Alderman Dan Partney was the only alderman voting against the rezoning.

DRIVING toward downtown on Delmar Avenue is made hazardous by a small tree planted near the intersection at 22nd Street. The sign can't be seen until a driver gets within about 50 feet of the intersection.

Reviews and previews

Class of 2000 off to good start

Kindergarten students, who will someday be members of the Class of 2000, got some early words of encouragement last week when 633 students and their parents gathered to hear Superintendent Gib Walmsley. At the program, sponsored by the Area PTA Council, pictures of the individual classes were taken and will be put into a time capsule along with each child's name.

Pickets appear outside MESD

About 20 East St. Louis residents protested in front of the Metro East Sanitary District office at 18th Street and Madison Avenue last week to express their concern about MESD's use of a temporary floodgate at the district's East St. Louis pump station. Last year, a gate broke, sending river water into East St. Louis neighborhood homes. The temporary gate may be replaced by spring, said Shang Greathouse, MESD director.

Park to give flowers away

The Granite City Park District will hold its annual flower giveaway from 8 a.m. to noon Saturday at the flower gardens. Each person must bring his own container, and the flowers will be dug by Park District personnel only.

A group of residences valued at about $100,000 are being constructed in Granite City's more exclusive residential district near Wilson Park. Four of the high-priced houses are nearly complete.

Tell it like it is

Q: Should a separate school be opened for children with AIDS?

Harlan Keel

"No, I don't think they should. It is bad enough that the children and the families are going to have to live with the fact that they (the children) are going to die... It's a shame that they have to put up with ignorance."

— 22 Park Towne West

Cathy Pope

"I feel we still don't know enough about AIDS. We have learned so much in such a short time. My answer is yes to help save the future."

— Lake Drive

Maria Bruzaigis

"No, I don't feel there should be separate schools for children with AIDS. Just because they have an illness, it's not their fault."

— 2460 Delmar Ave.

NEXT WEEK: Should local authorities consider a ban on potentially vicious dogs such as pit bull terriers? To record your answer, phone 452-0222 between 5:30 p.m. and 8 a.m. daily. Leave your name, address, hometown and phone number.

Quote of the week

"An alderman is responsible for getting things done in his ward. If a violation is brought to the attention of the attorneys and the attorneys refuse to act on it, we should find other city attorneys who will do it," Partney said after City Attorney John Hopkins told the City Council it was attempting to usurp executive authority by seeking fines against a developer.

Tip of the hat

Merna Davis

Forward thinking

Merna Davis, Webster Elementary School teacher, who suggested the idea for ceremonies last week honoring kindergarten students who will be members of the Class of 2000. The project involved the parents early in the start of their children's school career, started kindergarten with a celebration, set goals for the youngsters to follow and gave students an opportunity to meet students from schools throughout the district.

Seniors protest cuts in funding

By Ed Gurney
Staff affiliate

CASEVILLE — About 70 people attending a special hearing Friday were urged to lobby the General Assembly to overturn a decision by Gov. James Thompson to cut the commission for senior citizens' programs.

"The cut would seriously affect services for an aging, frail and infirm senior population in Madison and St. Clair counties and five other nearby counties, according to the Southwestern Illinois Area Agency on Aging."

A number of those attending the public hearing at the Caseyville Township Senior Citizens' Center on the budget cuts said they would help with the lobby-

'You as senior citizens have the power that is heard.'

—Carol Kopis

ing effort. Some indicated they would attend a special rally in the capital during the veto session Oct. 21.

Thompson cut $1.3 million earmarked for senior citizens' services, reportedly because the legislature failed to approve a proposed tax increase.

"Our portion of that cut was a little over $78,000. That's no small change," said Carol Kopis, deputy director of SWIAAOA. SWIAAOA, based in Fairview Heights, is a nonprofit corporation created to improve the quality of life for senior citizens.

SWIAAOA had to cut one staff position and use $50,000 of its reserves this year, Kopis said.

"You as senior citizens have the power that is heard by legislators in Springfield," Kopis told the audience.

"We may not get it this year, but we can make it darn hard for them to say, 'No,'" Kopis said.

She also asked the seniors to lobby the legislature to restore $439,000 for programs to help seniors living in rural areas and to approve legislation to authorize a statewide elder abuse program.

It was the regular senior citizen funding that drew the most discussion at the hearing, however.

Someone pointed out that individually written letters would probably have great impact.

Frank Smith of Randolph County said Sparta has an active seniors' organization.

"We were hoping that instead of cutting funding, we would get money to enlarge our building," he said.

Nameoki collects $629,904 in taxes

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

NAMEOKI — Property taxes for 1986 totaling $629,904 were collected and disbursed this year by Nameoki Collector Steve Isenbarg. It was reported at a Town Board meeting Monday night. All taxing bodies share in the distribution, with over half of the funds going to the schools.

This figure is down approximately $80,000 from an average year's collection of about $1.4 million, Isenbarg said.

The delay in mailing of real estate tax bills was the reason Isenbarg collected less money this year, he said. The bills were delayed due to the time required to complete new valuations of farm property.

By law, Isenbarg is allowed to collect taxes through Aug. 31. After that, payments are made directly to Madison County Treasurer Mick Henkhaus. The first of the two tax installments was due by Sept. 14 and the second payment is due Nov. 16.

Nameoki, along with Granite City, Venice and Edwardsville townships, still collects property taxes prior to Sept. 1.

Township officials commended Isenbarg for his work in the short time he had.

Supervisor Harry Briggs Sr. said the township has received some tax distributions from the county.

The board changed its next meeting from Monday, Oct. 12, to Tuesday, Oct. 13.

City Council accepts stops at Fehling

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The new four-way stop at Fehling Road and State Street is getting generally good reviews and the City Council has decided to keep it.

The council passed an ordinance at its Sept. 22 meeting making the stops required until a traffic study is done and more permanent measures are taken in the area.

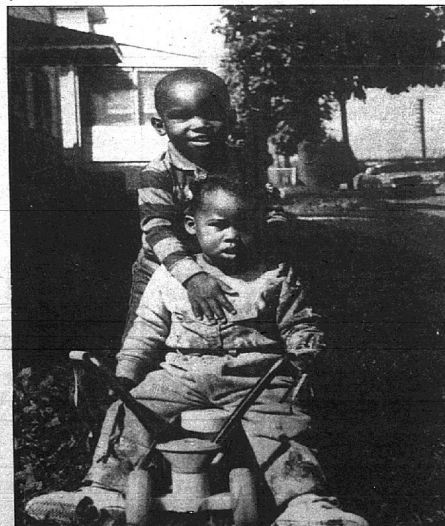

Barricades were placed several weeks ago that keep Fehling Road traffic from using a sharp curve on the street behind Granite City High School. The action was taken by Superintendent of Streets Mac Warfield after a new high school entrance was opened at the intersection.

The traffic, instead, must move beyond the curve into the intersection. Before the barricades were placed, Warfield and other officials observed the traffic flow and decided the intersection was hazardous.

"It's a very usable stop. It looks bad, but it's all very workable," said 4th Ward Alderman Sharon Perjak, whose ward encompasses the area.

Mayor Von Dee Cruse said at the meeting that he has received calls about the four-way stop.

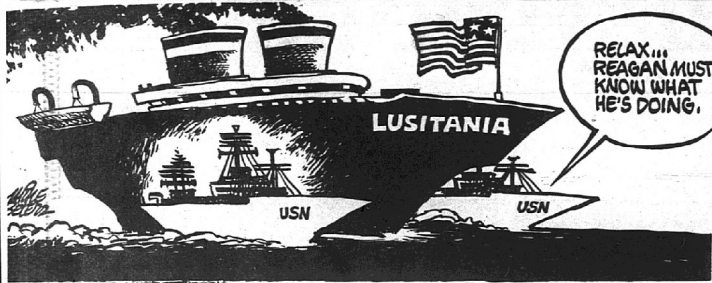

"I've received quite a few phone calls and all of them have been favorable," Cruse said.

Illinois able to draw foreign tourists

To the editor:
In his February State of the State message to the General Assembly, Gov. Thompson announced he was appointing me to serve as Illinois' international trade and tourism representative — a designation intended to highlight our state's commitment to compete in the global economy.

Most public attention in recent months has focused on trade issues, as Illinois and the entire nation search for ways to become more competitive in the international marketplace.

This effort must include a view towards the travel and tourism industry because it is crucial to Southwestern Illinois' economic well-being.

This region is so different from the vast, pastoral landscape which characterizes our Prairie State.

The entire Great River Road country boasts architectural wonders and an ambience reminiscent of the steamboat days.

The people and places provide a unique glimpse of Illinois' European beginnings and subsequent industrial expansion.

Scattered throughout are opportunities for antiquing, sightseeing, sports or just relaxing in the scenic Southwest.

In all, $6.6 billion was spent by 31 million travelers in our state last year.

Illinois and 40 other states rank the tourism industry either first, second or third in terms of revenue. It generates spending for meals, lodging, transportation and other retail businesses.

A majority of these dollars go to small and medium-sized companies: gift shops, restaurants, hotels and recreational facilities.

Tourism is a major source of employment, too, with more than 140,000 Illinoisans working in a wide variety of positions directly attributable to this expanding sector of the economy.

Analysts believe that travel and tourism will likely become the largest industry in the U.S. and in the world, by the year 2000.

Illinois has recognized the growth potential of this industry and presently maintains a tourism promotion budget of more than $18 million — the largest such expenditure of any state in the nation.

We rank second, behind New York, in the amount spent on tourism advertising.

In fact, fiscal year 1983 marks the fourth consecutive year that the Illinois Office of Tourism has received $10 million for its advertising campaign.

Historically, the international travel market has been a low priority for the United States and Illinois. But this overseas "export" industry should not be treated so lightly.

In 1986 alone, 22 million foreign visitors contributed almost $16 billion to our nation's economy.

The best guess is that each percent of the total world tourism market equals about $1 billion in receipts for our businesses; about $165 million in federal, state and local tax revenues; and about 28,500 jobs.

When an industry promises so many economic benefits, we can ill afford to give it less than our fullest attention.

Illinois is doing an excellent job with a substantial commitment to domestic tourism promotion. But I believe the international market remains largely untapped.

With enough enthusiasm, and with sufficient funding for promotion outside the U.S., Illinois can significantly increase its current 3 percent share of total foreign arrivals.

Aggressive international marketing will entice travelers to visit the French Colonial District of Southwestern Illinois, a region which flourished when the British were barely beginning to occupy the nation's East Coast.

Reminders of this lively era can be seen at Pere Marquette State Park and in Brussels, a Belgian settlement.

History has also left its mark in Kampsville and Collinsville where the American Indian culture prospered. Overseas tourism promotion will further highlight the region's rich heritage.

In sum, we must become unabashed boosters of all that Illinois has to offer to the world.

Diplomat's relations with Senate shaky

WASHINGTON — Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C. has taken a lot of heat for the way he uses his clout on the Foreign Relations Committee to hold up the ambassadorial appointments of career Foreign Service officers.

This has put him in direct conflict with the State Department's professional diplomats.

Helms and fellow conservatives are currently giving close scrutiny to three career officers who were nominated as ambassadors by President Reagan after being approved by Secretary of State George Shultz.

They are Richard Viets (Portugal), Nicholas Platt (Philippines) and Melissa Wells (Mozambique).

George Vest, director general of the Foreign Service, told our reporter Daniel Kaufman that all three nominees have "top-notch" credentials, and he can't understand why Helms refuses them the routine approval that is traditional for career ambassadors.

"If a person has a long and very well-known and distinguished career, you have one hearing (before the Senate) only, because life in the Foreign Service is an open book," Vest said.

In each of these cases, more than one hearing was called for at the instigation of Helms.

Helms' spokesman, Tom Boney, insisted the senator is not "out to get" anyone in the Foreign Service, as critics have often charged. Helms is simply examining each nomination thoroughly "on an individual basis."

Boney said, and is considering questions of both character and policy.

In the case of Viets at least, Helms appears to be basing his opposition not on political considerations but on the nominee's past performance as ambassador to Jordan. We've obtained a memo Helms sent to his committee colleagues that raises questions about Viets' explanation of certain financial practices during his tenure in Amman.

Some of the questions were first detailed in a 1983 audit by the State Department's inspector general. In his memo, Helms lists what he feels are major discrepancies in Viets' sworn testimony involving the financial issues.

Jack Anderson
& Joseph Spear
United Features

Viets did not reimburse the department for use of government vehicles by his family, contending that "overt terrorist threats" and "substantially modified" regulations exempted him from paying 20.5 cents per mile.

Helms said current regulations require him to pay.

Viets explained a substantial "loan" (somewhere between $10,000 and $50,000) from an embassy employee by saying he just "kept it for her" as a long-time friend so that it would earn interest. But Helms pointed out that Viets' 1984 financial disclosure revealed no sum that large in any bank account.

"Extraordinarily high liquor consumption claims" submitted for reimbursement were explained by Viets as gifts to Jordanian guests, their security guards and drivers. But Helms said Viets offered no substantiating evidence.

Helms questioned when and why Viets changed his legal residence from Vermont to Florida. Viets said it was 1980 or 1981; Helms said it was 1984. Viets denied it was to avoid paying state income taxes (Florida has none).

The Foreign Relations Committee approved Viets' nomination by a 12-5 vote. Two liberal Democrats, Alan Cranston, Calif., and Christopher Dodd, Conn., joined Helms in voting against approval. Chairman Clarence Pell, D-R.I., acknowledged that "a number of irregularities were raised," but said Viets had shown no "intentional disregard of either law or regulations."

Viets said he would not comment until the full Senate votes on his nomination.

CLASSY MOVE — In October 1973, President Richard Nixon instructed the Justice Department to fire Watergate special prosecutor Archibald Cox, and the order was refused by the attorney general and his deputy before Solicitor General Robert Bork agreed to carry it out. Now Cox is board chairman of Common Cause, and Bork is a Supreme Court nominee. When the organization met recently to decide its position on the nomination, Cox declined to participate and left the room. The board was badly split, but finally voted to oppose Bork.

UNDER THE DOME — We reported that Rep. Jack "Bwana" Fields, R-Texas, is planning a safari to southern Africa and has asked the State Department to help him find an AIDS-free supply of blood in the event of a bad accident. But Fields is not the only lawmaker who is leery of the killer disease. State Department sources say the fear of AIDS infection is causing numerous congressional junkies to shun the continent and find official business elsewhere.

HOT SEAT — Adm. John Poindexter will have a familiar chair to sweat things out in as the independent counsel's Iran-contra investigation continues. Following his abrupt resignation last November, Poindexter's staff took up a collection and bought him the $1,200 leather chair he once used at Cabinet meetings.

HEADLINES AND FOOTNOTES — For the past four years, the ink used in U.S. greenbacks has been supplied by a Swiss firm called Siega. The highly specialized ink is manufactured stateside, however. The CIA has concluded that the U.S. raid on Libya in April 1986 cooled Col. Moammar Gadhafi's pro-terrorist fervor.

Quad City Old Newsboys Day continues a tradition of charitable work

By Jim Baer
Staff-afiliate

When the Globe-Democrat was forced to finally shutter its doors last October, more than the employees, advertisers and readers of the daily paper had something to lose.

Many St. Louis-based charitable children's agencies have received financial aid from Old Newsboys Day, the paper's annual Thanksgiving season fund-raiser. But the agencies' fears were allayed when sponsorship of the event, which raised more than $3.7 million since its inception in 1957, was assumed by the Suburban Journals following the Globe's closing last year.

Over the years, St. Joseph Institute for the Deaf in University City has been a big beneficiary of the Old Newsboys campaign.

"We were very appreciative of all the help we got, it meant a great deal to us," said Sister Joyce Buckler, principal of the institute. "We were thrilled that the Suburban Journals took over. We value the newspaper as a strong entity in the community."

St. Joseph Institute is a large center for 120 children, ranging in age from 10 months to 14 years.

The institute is one of only three boarding schools nationwide that offer aid to deaf children; there are 27 similar type schools that offer day-help only. St. Joseph was founded 150 years ago in a log cabin on the banks of the Mississippi River.

Teaching and boarding deaf children is a costly proposition — about $12,000 per child annually. The institute receives only $4,350 per child in tuition reimbursement from the parents, which represents a shortfall of $7,650 per child each year.

The United Way supplements 13 percent of the institute's $1.3 million annual budget.

Needless to say, there are a lot of auctions, Christmas card sales and other fund-raisers. The institute gets help from individuals but not much from corporations.

"We can't afford to hire more teachers, though they are needed," says Sister Buckler. "We are not rich, so we pinch our pennies. One good thing: We started a scholarship fund 25 years ago. That helps those who have the need but can't afford to pay."

Since 1957, the Old Newsboys Day drive has donated $32,000 to St. Joseph Institute. The institute used the $1,495 it received last year from the drive to pay for sports equipment.

"Sometimes we have expenses that are just not covered in the budget," says Sister Buckler. "For instance, because of safety measures, we wanted to move all of our playground equipment away from the street. That cost $4,000."

Old Newsboys Day donations over the years have allowed the institute to obtain two sets of World Book Encyclopedia, outdoor basketball equipment, television adapters (decoders) for the deaf, an audiometer for testing hearing, group hearing aids, a movable science lab and educational materials. Funding also has been used for basic needs like refinishing blackboards and putting in new acoustical ceiling tiles.

Other children's agencies benefiting from past Newsboys drives include: Boys Club of St. Louis, Central Agency for Jewish Education, Boy Scouts of America, Kingdom House, East St. Louis Jackie Robinson Khoury League, Mundy Student Theater, YMCA of Greater St. Louis, St. Louis Association for Retarded Citizens and Youth Emergency Service.

Agencies planning to request money raised by the sale of the special Old Newsboys editions of the Suburban Journals must file a form before the request can be considered.

The deadline for filing an application for money is Nov. 9.

Copies of the form and criteria can be obtained by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Old Newsboys Fund Application, Suburban Journals, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, Mo. 63131.

Extension planning income tax seminars

The University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service is sponsoring 26 farm income tax "schools" for professional tax preparers and consultants.

The tax schools concentrate on problems of preparing both farm and non-farm tax returns, but they also offer considerable information on all types of tax returns.

The first schools are Nov. 12 and Nov. 13 in Springfield and Collinsville.

Advance registration and a $50 fee are required. Pre-enrollment is required.

More detailed information is available by calling the county University of Illinois extension office.

Arts workshops for youngsters to begin

The Madison County Arts Council will sponsor a series of monthly art workshops for children six to nine years old at the Granite City Public Library from October to April. The workshops will be held after school, on the second Thursday of the month, from 3:30 to 5 p.m.

"The purpose of the workshops is to teach the basic values of various art forms to children and to introduce them, under the supervision of a local guest artist, to new materials, new techniques, and new areas of the arts," said John Peecher.

Executive director of the Madison County Arts Council, he said, "The classes will also be fun."

The Kids & Art Workshops will begin on Oct. 8 with a class on pottery led by Kay Kendall.

Other classes include "How to be a Storyteller," by Chloe LaBuck, a well-known storyteller from St. Louis; "How to Write and Illustrate a Book," by William Harroff of Roxana in which the children will create their own book; and a class in "How to Produce a Play," by Bonnie-Wadeleigh of Alton.

Mary Agnes Schlather, Granite City Public Library children's librarian, said, "We are happy to be able to provide the opportunity for these classes to area children."

Last year the Madison County Arts Council started the Kids & Art Workshop as a pilot program held in Edwardsville. Because of the popularity of the class, the program is being expanded and the MCAC will be sponsoring classes at the public libraries in Granite City, Edwardsville and Wood River this year.

The fee is $10 per child to join Kids & Art for one season of seven classes. All materials will be furnished. Class size is limited.

Registration forms are available at the Granite City Public Library, 2001 Delmar Ave. To register by phone, persons may call the Arts Council office at 666-8014 or the Children's Department of the Library at 452-6238.

Vandals damage rail crossing's gate equipment

A man, 18, and a teen-age girl, 15, were both charged with criminal trespassing and four boys were questioned in one incident of vandalism Sept. 24 at the Norfolk and Southern Railway crossing at 25th Street.

Another suspect was being sought in a second incident a few hours later that severed wires which control warning lights at the crossing.

Railroad security guard James McGee told police that electrical equipment that runs the crossing gates has been the target of vandals.

McGee alleged he saw Jerry Camp, 18, of Granite City, a girl and four boys throwing rocks at the equipment. He said Camp and the girl stayed when approached, but the boys ran away.

Patrolmen arrested the pair for trespassing and both were released on a notice to appear at a hearing. Later, McGee went to the station with the four boys, two 12, one 11 and one 10 years old, who had returned to the crossing. After questioning, the boys were allowed to leave.

Later, someone cut wires between a battery box and lights used to warn motorists about oncoming trains. Damage to the equipment was estimated at $100.

Madison police

Gun pointed at woman
A large crowd gathered in the 1600 block of Collinsville Avenue at 6:30 p.m. Sept. 17 when members of two families became involved in arguments. Police officers were called back at 6:54 p.m. and 7:06 p.m. One woman was accused of pointing a handgun at Celestine Williams but the weapon was not fired and no charge was filed. Members of both families were brought to the police station and officers then decided to seek additional information at a later date.

Parked auto damaged
Gerald Singleton Jr., 412 Madison Ave., told police at 4:59 a.m. Sept. 21 someone had sprayed black paint on the side and hood of his 1983 auto, parked near his home.

Arrested at restaurant
Orville E. Copeland, 19, of 2801 Cayuga Ave., allegedly became angry in Ralph and Charlie's Restaurant, 1431 Fourth St., last week when he was refused service. After a beer bottle was thrown inside the restaurant, Copeland was placed in a police vehicle and allegedly began to strike his head on the safety shield. He was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment of cuts and abrasions to the head. He was arrested on a complaint signed by David Thebeau, the restaurant owner, and was released on a notice to appear in court.

Driver's purse stolen
Michelle Lancaster, 18, of 2504 Dale Ave., drove east in the 1500 block of Third Street and approached a stop sign at Washington Avenue. Her car stopped at 10:43 p.m. Sept. 19 and several young men approached. One reached into the T-top, taking her turquoise purse, and they ran south on Washington Avenue. The purse contained various papers but no money.

License charge filed
Anne Glenn, 1639 Spring Ave., was stopped at 806 Madison Ave. at 11:40 p.m. Sept. 18 and charged with driving while her license was suspended. She was released until a court hearing on Oct. 23.

Theft during delivery
A radar detector, valued at $30, was taken from the auto of Donald Graham, 2234 Bryan Ave., Sept. 18. Graham parked his car at 210 Madison Ave. and was delivering pizza to a business located there when the theft occurred.

Granite City police

Wallet, credit cards taken
Ronnie Vinton, 2431 Lincoln Ave., said his wallet, checkbook, personal papers and credit cards were taken from his car Sept. 23 while it was parked in the 2600 block of Madison Avenue.

VCR, vacuum missing
Dan Hayden, 2224 Missouri Ave., said he returned home Sept. 24 and found a door open. Missing were a video cassette player, valued at $275, and a vacuum cleaner, valued at $150.

Purse taken from car
Anne Glenn, 1639 Spring Ave., said Sept. 23 that her purse, containing a wallet, personal papers and credit cards, was taken from her car while it was parked in the 3000 block of Madison Avenue.

Car windshield broken
Norma Marshall, 4910 Kirkpatrick Homes, said the windshield and rear view mirror of her car were broken Sept. 22 while the car was parked in the 4900 block of Kirkpatrick.

DUIs

Arrested, served warrant
Lynda S. Brandenburg, 30, of Caseyville, was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol and driving while her license was suspended at 8:28 p.m. Sept. 20 at Nameoki Road and St. Clair Avenue. She was also arrested on a St. Clair County warrant for failure to appear on a DUI charge. She was held on $375 cash bail.

Mishap leads to arrest
Mark Ray Haffner, 23, St. Louis, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and failing to reduce speed to avoid an accident at 4:27 p.m. Sept. 19 at Maryville Road and Illinois 162.

David M. Towery, 2213 Terminal Ave., said his pickup truck was stopped at a traffic signal when his vehicle was hit in the rear by Haffner's auto. Haffner said he saw the red light turn green and saw the truck, but could not stop in time to avoid the accident. Haffner was released on $302 cash bail.

A QUILT is displayed that was made by Marshall Elementary School students Sept. 16 as part of "A Celebration of Citizenship," a national school event honoring the bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution. The quilt can be seen at the school.

Marshall students take part in Constitution ceremonies

GRANITE CITY — On Sept. 16, Marshall Elementary School students participated in "A Celebration of Citizenship," a national school event honoring the bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution.

The event started at 8:45 a.m. when each class, carrying its own classroom flag, assembled around the flagpole in front of the school. A group of Scouts led the assembly in the Pledge of Allegiance. The National Anthem was also sung.

Students returned to their classrooms and each class designed a large square that was assembled into a large quilt during the lunch hour.

Each square in the quilt is representative of the pupil's thoughts concerning the Constitution, said Goni Michaeloff, Marshall principal.

5 students commended

Granite City High School has been notified that Myles L. Epperson, Mark E. Hall, Christopher Miskell, Marc A. Sine and Vincent E. Smith have been designated as commended students in the 1988 National Merit Scholarship Program and each will receive a letter of commendation in recognition of outstanding academic promise.

Principal Kenneth Spalding announced that these seniors placed in the top 50,000 of more than one million participants in the 32nd annual Merit Program. A spokesman for National Merit Scholarship Corp. said, "Being designated a commended student is an accomplishment of which both the student and the school may be especially proud."

High performance in this competition is indicative of exceptional scholastic ability. It is hoped that recognition of these young people will add to their motivation to pursue higher education.

Residents earn university honor

Granite City residents rank among more than 200 students who qualified for the deans list during the summer quarter at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The residents from Granite City are: Marilyn E. Baumann, Diana Bunch, Karen Turner Busse, Belinda Faye Counts, Bradley Hart, Claudia Kachigian, Tamara Sue Largent, Kerry McFarland, Karen Menendez, Karen Revelle, Carolyn Tuft, Ricky Vance and Deborah Ann Wallis.

Workshop participants

GRANITE CITY music teachers Patricia Dineff, left, and Dan Vizer, right, were among the participants in a recent piano workshop given by renowned pianist Ruth Slenczynska, center. The focus of the study was Polish composer Frederic Chopin's Chopin, though music of other composers also was heard. Vizer performed "Rhapsody in G minor, Opus 79, Number Two" by Johannes Brahms. Dineff performed Chopin's "Polonaise in A Major, Opus 40, Number One." Vizer teaches private applied piano at Granite City Campus and has a studio in Granite City. Dineff teaches general music at Niedringhaus and Webster elementary schools. Slenczynska, recently retired artist-in-residence at SIUE, performs around the world.

Schools will note Just Say No day

Gov. James R. Thompson on Sept. 14 approved a bill that establishes "Just Say No" Day every May.

"Increasing awareness of the problems associated with drug and alcohol abuse should be encouraged in Illinois and across the nation," said Thompson. "That is why I issued 'Just Say No' proclamations in 1986 and 1987. This law will make that action a matter of annual public policy."

4 local residents injured in Alton

ALTON — Four Granite City residents were injured in a three-car accident Saturday that left an Alton youth dead.

Hurt were Stephanie Cauley, 21, Dominic Spiroff, 8, and Stacy Spiroff, 12, all of Granite City. They are patients at St. Louis Children's Hospital in Alton. Marcus Hignan, 1, also of Granite City, was treated and released.

They were passengers in an auto driven by Diane Cauley, 21, of Alton. Her car was struck by an auto driven by Edward C. Freitag, 50, of Alton about 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the 3100 block of Brown Street.

Freitag's car was thrown on Brown and hit another car, driven by Lena Middlecoff, 79, Alton. Middlecoff lost control of her car and it went onto the sidewalk, hitting a utility pole and striking Nicholas Chatham, 7, of Alton, who was riding a bicycle on the sidewalk. He died at 6:45 a.m. Sunday at St. Louis Children's Hospital.

Freitag's car then crossed lanes and hit Cauley's vehicle head-on, it was alleged. Freitag was treated and released at Wood River Township Hospital. He remained in the Alton city jail late Monday and Alton authorities said they plan to seek charges against him. He had not been charged as of Monday.

County cable TV panel will meet

A Madison County cable task force, formed nearly two months ago, will hold its first meeting on Monday, Oct. 5, according to Mark Goldenberg, co-chairman of the 15-member panel. He is city attorney of Granite City.

Barry Babcock, executive vice president for Cencom Cable Television, said the company has not decided if it will participate in the first meeting.

The task force will meet in the county board's meeting room in the courthouse at Edwardsville at 7 p.m.

Goldenberg and the other co-chairman, Charles Rodell of Granite City, will participate in a meeting with at least one Cencom representative on Monday. The two will give a report about the meeting to the full panel.

The task force was formed by Madison County State's Attorney Dick Allen in July. Allen has spearheaded a crusade against the company's operation based in Maryville, alleging the business was using deceptive marketing practices for its pay-per-view service.

Goldenberg said he and Rodell have met with Dennis Orsey, director of the attorney general's regional office in Granite City. They have also met twice with Myles McCall, who works for Allen and serves as the liaison between the task force and Allen.

"We're trying to keep an open mind on it," Babcock said. "I think the commission will try to do a conscientious job."

However, Babcock still has reservations because he maintains the panel was formed by Allen to drum up political publicity.

He said many of the task force members told Cencom they found out they were on the task force when they read articles in area newspapers.

"We never have been able to understand the purpose of the task force," Babcock said.

Goldenberg said he has spoken with Cencom representatives on the phone on several occasions. He described the company's reaction as "cautious but willing to recognize (the task force) exists."

Babcock said Cencom has numerous questions to ask at Monday's meeting. The cable outfit is concerned that the task force might be "stepping on the shoes" of municipal officials, he said.

Cencom also wants to know the goals of the task force, Babcock said.

However, Goldenberg said the task force will not officially discuss its goals until the Oct. 5 meeting.

Babcock said subscribers' complaints have dropped dramatically, which he attributed to improvements Cencom has made since it bought the Maryville-based cable business from South-Western last year.

Cencom has about 25,000 subscribers in the Collinsville, Maryville, Granite City and Edwardsville areas.

Since Allen began his public criticism of Cencom in March, Babcock said, the company has kept the same number of subscribers.

"I was a little bit surprised by that, too," Babcock said.

The task force is expected to issue a recommendation to Allen when its study is completed. Allen is considering filing charges against Cencom.

Bellcoff retained on planning board

At its first 1987-88 meeting, the newly-elected executive committee of the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Regional Planning Commission elected officers to serve during the year.

President — Norman Rieso, St. Clair County Board; vice president — Carl Upchurch, Monroe County Board; secretary — Ray Bueser, Washington County Planning Commission; and treasurer — Gene Bombolich, mayor of Collinsville.

In addition to the officers, the following officials were elected by the commission membership to serve on the 26-member executive committee through June 30:

Madison County — John Bellcoff, mayor of Madison; David Dietzel, superintendent of highways; Alan Dunstan, Madison County Board; Jack Frandsen, Madison County Board; Elizabeth Sanchez-Seser, Image Inc.; Lon Smith, mayor of Wood River; and Reese Hoskin, Madison County Urban League.

St. Clair County — Charles Chenoweth, Belleville Plan Commission; Doris Jefferson, citizen representative; Mike King, mayor of Cahokia; Callie Mobley, mayor of Alorton; William Polka, superintendent of highways; Leroy Perrotto, mayor of Mascoutah; and Frank Heiligenstein, St. Clair County Board.

Monroe County — Ronald Polka, superintendent of highways. Randolph County — Leonard Ernsting, chairman of the County Board; and Lester Holcomb, superintendent of highways.

Bond County — Harvey LeBeque, County Board member; and Robert Cripe, County Board member.

Washington County — Lester Campbell, chairman of the County Board.

Clinton County — Dennis Rickhoff, chairman; and Jack Lampen, chairman, Community and Economic Development.

The executive committee meets on the third Thursday of each month to conduct the business of the commission and discuss matters of interest or concern to the seven-county region served by the commission.

The commission was created in 1963 by an act of the Illinois legislature to meet needs for advanced planning and coordination and to provide technical assistance and informational services.

Decision by Schroeder may aid Simon campaign

By David Rocks

P-RJ Washington bureau

WASHINGTON — A staffer for Sen. Paul Simon said Monday that Colorado congresswoman Pat Schroeder's decision not to enter the 1988 presidential race may help the Illinois Democrat in his own bid for the White House.

David Carle, Simon's press secretary, said the senator's positions on many issues, notably arms control and women's issues, are similar to Schroeder's, and that Simon should reap some benefit in the polls following Schroeder's announcement Monday in Denver.

Schroeder, considered by many to be the first serious female presidential candidate, traveled thousands of miles this summer to assess the strength of a possible candidacy. But on Monday she said she will not run.

For his part, Simon said in a prepared statement released in Washington that he will look to Schroeder as an advisor during his campaign.

"I understand Pat Schroeder's decision and I respect it," Simon said. "She is an important national leader whose views will help shape the course for America. Pat and I are close on the key issues and I welcome her counsel in the months ahead."

At a press conference in Chicago, Simon told reporters he regrets that Schroeder's voice will not be heard on the campaign trail.

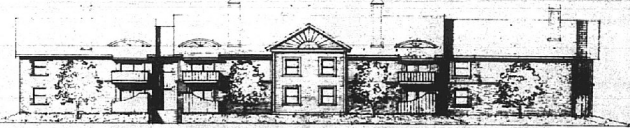

"Her withdrawal is a loss to the national dialogue," Simon said.

Although Simon expects to benefit from Schroeder's decision, he noted he does not think he will profit from Delaware Sen. Joseph Biden's abrupt withdrawal from the race last week. The withdrawal came after allegations that Biden had misrepresented his academic record and copied a British politician's campaign speeches.

Simon did say, however, that his campaign has received "substantial numbers" of calls from Biden supporters wishing to work for his campaign.

Popular myths of teen diet programs dispelled

With classes back in session, youngsters across the country are trying out for their school's athletic teams. Good nutrition is vital for these aspiring Olympians, and yet many of these youngsters are misled by widespread nutritional myths which currently abound.

To help correct some of these misconceptions, nutrition experts at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Belleville present the following facts:

Myth 1 — Extra protein builds big muscles.

While it is true that protein plays an important role in the formation of muscle tissue, it is not true that the consumption of large quantities of protein-containing foods will build bigger or better muscles.

Actually, eating large portions of protein foods can result in an increase in body fat. For example, beefsteak contains about 40 percent of its calories in the form of protein, and about 60 percent in the form of fat.

As a rule, daily protein consumption should provide 11 to 16 percent of an athlete's daily caloric intake. This is adequate to meet growth and activity requirements. Such foods as lean meat, fish, poultry, milk, cheese and eggs are the best source of protein to choose. It is best to avoid supplements of single or unbalanced mixtures of amino acids; these are expensive and nearly useless.

Myth 2 — Before-competition sweets give more energy.

A popular myth maintains that honey, soft drinks and other sweets will improve performance if taken immediately before competition.

Actually, eating concentrated sugar foods before competition can cause cramps, nausea, distention and diarrhea in some individuals. For endurance events, energy supplements do seem to aid performance, but no more than 200 calories per hour should be used and must be accompanied by adequate fluids.

Myth 3 — Exercise and water don't mix.

Many athletes deliberately avoid water during competition in the belief that it will bring about upset stomach or hurt their performance. In fact, drinking water is extremely important during physical exercise or competition to increase endurance and avoid possible dehydration and heat exhaustion.

Myth 4 — More vitamins improve performance.

This myth is based on the assumption that more of a good thing is always better. However, a well-balanced diet contains all the vitamins and minerals needed. Large quantities of water-soluble vitamins are flushed from the body in the urine and fat soluble vitamins can be stored by the body, possibly resulting in harmful toxicity.

Myth 5 — Thin equals fit.

Many teenagers become obsessed with their bodies, too often equating thinness with fitness. The result is over-dieting, which deprives skin, muscles, hair and other areas with a lack of necessary nutrients. A healthy teenager with a regular exercise routine should not have to be diet-compulsive.

Grief workshop series planned

Hospice of Madison County will hold its "Bridges" grief workshop on four consecutive Wednesday evenings, from 7 to 9 p.m., beginning Oct. 21.

The first, second and fourth sessions will be held in the Hall. The third session is scheduled for the Wiesman Room. Both rooms are at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Offered in the spring and fall, this workshop for intensive bereavement support and grief education is open to anyone who has lost a loved one during the past year," said Nancy Kaprielian, hospice volunteer coordinator.

Topics include:

- Sharing your grief with others who have experienced similar losses;

- Learning how to cope with grief from the loss; and

- Readjusting to life and new responsibilities.

"The bereavement program is an integral component of Hospice of Madison County's full-service program," said a spokesman. "Contact is maintained with families for over one year after the death of patients, and the Bridges grief workshop as well as the annual memorial service are special functions during the year."

This workshop is free, but registration is required at 758-3399.

AIDS panel urges veto of pending bills

The Madison County Task Force on AIDS will ask Gov. Jim Thompson to veto several bills authorizing mandatory testing for the AIDS virus and contact tracing of past sexual partners of persons who have tested positive for the virus.

The task force will also request that Thompson sign another bill which ensures confidential testing, but will urge the governor to eliminate an amendment exempting health maintenance organizations from the bill.

The task force discussed the bills at a meeting at the Days Inn in Edwardsville on Sept. 11.

"Some of these bills are junk," said Trish Demaris-Cravens, consultant with the county's AIDS prevention program. "A lot of them are going to be expensive."

The proposals in the four bills that attracted the panel's objections were:

- Mandatory testing for all couples seeking a marriage license.

- Collection of all names and addresses of those who have tested positive. The Department of Public Health would collect the information.

- Demaris-Cravens said the requirement "smacks of a witch hunt to me."

- Requiring the public health department to ask those who have tested positive to identify their sexual partners for the last seven years. The department must also attempt to contact those individuals to warn them of their exposure to the virus.

- Allowing quarantine of individuals deemed dangerous to public health.

- Requiring those convicted of a crime and jailed in a state prison or county jail to be tested.

Jeanne Simon finds you can come home

By Norma Mendoza
Staff affiliate

Jeanne Simon came home to Madison County Sept. 17 when the club she helped start held "Paul Simon for President" dinner to help raise funds for the Simon campaign.

The event at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Highland raised nearly $1,000 for the campaign, said Mae Grappenhof, chairman.

"She was one of the key people who started the Troy Democratic Women's Club close to 20 years ago," Grappenhof said in her introduction of Sen. Simon's wife.

Jeanne Hurley Simon is an attorney who was herself a state legislator when she met the representative she later married; they were married in 1960.

She put her own political career aside to become a chief supporter of the man now running for the Democratic nomination for president.

"People ask me what I would do as First Lady," Simon said. "First of all I would get rid of the title, 'First Lady.' I don't like titles. But, the president's wife doesn't sound bad."

Simon joked about holding a garage sale on the south lawn of the White House to get rid of all the china she says she imagines must be stored in the White House basement because of the penchant of president's wives for ordering new sets.

The Simons made Troy their home for 12 years, Simon said her reservations about moving from Cook County to a small town soon disappeared when she discovered her Southern Illinois neighbors were also friends who would "be there" in times of illness or trouble.

She said one thing about the growing Troy area that has not changed since the Simons left is the feeling the people have for Paul Simon.

"Your support has been there whether it was in the Mike Mansfield Room in the United States Senate on April 9, when Paul announced his intentions, or in Carbondale in May when he made his official announcement," Simon said.

"But it really began in 1954 when he began his race for the state legislature."

"I really sort of wish he hadn't worn a bow tie that day. He's been wearing one every since."

Bow ties were obvious everywhere Thursday night — from the giant red plastic ties adorning the guardrails next to the highway in front of the KC Hall to the small silver and gold bow ties worn in the lapels of supporters.

Simon said her travels on behalf of her husband's campaign have convinced her that the time is right for a candidate like Paul Simon.

"In Iowa, they see something in Paul you saw a long time ago when a young man with nothing but a good-faith loan from the Troy Lions Club bought the Troy Tribune."

She asked people who knew Paul Simon then to volunteer to write letters to key people in Iowa about how they knew him and trusted him then.

Simon said everywhere she has been, voters are looking for a candidate with integrity — someone who can bring truth and honesty to the presidency.

"Don't underestimate the little guy in the bow tie," Simon said. She said even when he was booed in an address in Indiana, he stood by his statement about Oliver North.

"They booed when he said, 'This man is not a hero.' But they cheered him after he went on to quote the words of a young legislator in Springfield, Ill., in 1838 after the death of Elijah Lovejoy: Young Abe Lincoln said, 'When we lose respect for the law, eventually we lose our liberty.'"

Price data will be required for pickups

House Bill 390, newly signed, requires vehicles weighing 8,500 pounds or less, such as light pickup trucks, to have consumer information posted on a window of the vehicle before its sale, if the truck is built after Dec. 31, 1987.

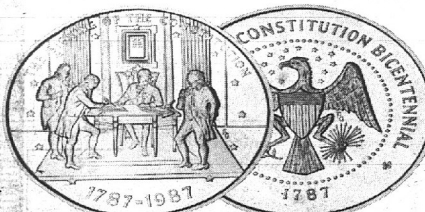

It extends current requirements for passenger cars to larger, second-division vehicles. The information will allow potential pickup truck consumers to compare costs before purchasing a vehicle, sponsors said. The bill takes effect Jan. 1, 1988.

The United States Constitution Bicentennial Silver Proof...

Designed by Frank Gasparro former Chief Engraver of the United States Mint

Proof-struck in traditional large silver dollar size

Enlarged

Sterling silver "Signing of the Constitution" proof

The 200th anniversary of the United States Constitution is a milestone event for collectors. One commemorative of this historic bicentennial sets itself apart from the others. It is a limited-edition sterling silver proof that captures "The Signing of the Constitution" by the forward-thinking men who laid the groundwork for our democratic system.

Created by Famed U.S. Mint Designer Frank Gasparro

The acclaimed and award-winning designer of this new commemorative is Frank Gasparro, who for sixteen years was the Chief Engraver of the United States Mint. His numerous credits include the design of the Kennedy Half Dollar, the Eisenhower Dollar and the famous Lincoln Memorial Cent.

"The Signing of the Constitution" continues his historic tradition and is perhaps one of Gasparro's most important works. Mary T. Brooks, Director of the U.S. Mint during the 1976 Bicentennial coinage program, commented on the medal. "The skill and design expertise of Frank Gasparro have come together magnificently in this Constitution Salute. During my tenure as Mint Director, I came to know and appreciate his work and believe this commemorative will long endure as a keepsake of another important U.S. bicentennial anniversary."

The reverse of the commemorative, also created by Gasparro, was inspired by the famous Brasher Doubloon, the first American gold coin. This rare and valuable coin was struck in 1787, the same year the Constitution was framed. Only seven of these gold pieces survive today with the finest-known specimen having sold at auction for $725,000. The design highlights our national symbol the eagle protected by a shield with thirteen stripes representing the original 13 states. The legend identifies it as a commemorative of the historic 200th anniversary of the Constitution.

Only 50,000

Available Worldwide

"The Signing of the Constitution" is being struck in a strictly limited edition. It is available now only by direct reservation. This flawless 925 sterling silver proof medal is being produced in a generous size (1 1/2" diameter) like traditional silver dollars of the past and its weight is 23.33 grams. Only 50,000 are available for collectors, an extremely small number when compared to the 7,106,843 U.S. Silver Dollars struck in 1986 to honor the Statue of Liberty centennial.

You can reserve the Constitution Bicentennial proof on a first-come, first-served basis for as low as $29.50 each. You can order one proof for $34.50 plus $3.00 postage and handling or two proofs for $32.00 each (total $64.00) plus $3.00 postage and handling. Five proofs can be yours at the special price of only $29.50 each (total $147.50) postpaid — a savings of $40.00! Satisfaction guaranteed or your money will be refunded immediately. Each medal will be housed in a custom display case and accompanied by a Certificate of Authenticity.

Bathon, Dunstan may try for county auditor post

The bid for Congress by Madison County Auditor Arthur "Peet" Fields may touch off a spirited race for the auditor's office in next year's elections.

Both Fields' chief deputy, Fred Bathon of Madison, and Madison County Board member Alan Dunstan of Troy have said they will seek the Democratic nomination for auditor should Fields enter the congressional fray.

Fields unsuccessfully sought the 21st District nomination in 1986 and is expected to formally announce his intention to seek the nomination in 1988.

Dunstan, who is also supervisor of Jarvis Township, said Sept. 18 he will formally announce his candidacy shortly after Fields announces a congressional bid.

Dunstan has been a County Board member since 1980. He said his membership on the board's finance committee has given him an appreciation of the job Fields has done.

"He's done a good job and I'd like to carry it on," said Dunstan. He said Fields' office has helped the board keep the county on sound financial footing and hold down taxes.

"Enjoy the autumn season of beautiful colors and pleasant weather at Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site during October." That is the advice of Suzanne Kutterer-Siburt of the Cahokia Mounds staff.

"On Saturday, Oct. 10, take a free five-mile nature and culture hike through the 2,300 acres of the prehistoric city—examining both the environment and the culture of these ancient people."

"The tour will be led by Bill Isenminger, staff archaeologist. An area naturalist will be on hand to explain the various plants and how the Indians used them," she said.

"Hikers are to meet at 9 a.m. at the Cahokia Mounds Museum. Please wear suitable clothing and shoes; also, bring a sack lunch and drinking water."

"A three-day adult pottery class is scheduled for Oct. 3, 4 and 5. Kevin Sampson, an Indian pottery specialist, will introduce the participants to prehistoric pottery types found in Illinois—pottery construction methods, clay preparation, tempering materials and techniques, and pottery decoration."

"The main focus will be to produce Mississippian (850-1400 A.D.) style pottery. The pottery will be fired Oct. 31."

"Advance registration and $20 tuition are required. Students should bring towels and two medium-size bowls. Clay and pottery-making tools will be provided."

"In addition to these activities, the public can participate in Saturday hands-on activities at the museum. There are also public walking tours each Saturday and Sunday at 2 p.m., as well as self-guiding tape tours."

For more information on autumn activities, the museum can be called at 344-3288.

County chair tab less than expected

New chairs for the Madison County Board Room will cost only about half as much as earlier thought.

The County Board on Sept. 16 voted to buy 43 chairs from Ideal Inc. of Belleville for $9,924. Ideal's bid was the lowest of 10 received.

When bids were sought earlier in the summer, the lowest bid among five received was about $19,000, from a St. Louis company. The board's county buildings committee voted to recommend acceptance of the bid, but later reversed itself and sought new bids.

Many chairs now in the board room are in poor condition; the board meets only once each month, but various court proceedings keep the room in use almost every day, officials said.

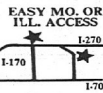

In other action, the board:

•Approved purchase of equipment for the county's data processing department for $122,814 from IBM Corp.

•Retained Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co. to perform the county's fiscal 1987 audit at a cost not to exceed $40,000.

Gensert thanked those ladies with no children in school for the evening's refreshments and for the surprise baby shower given for her after the meeting. She then reminded fifth-grade mothers that they would serve the next meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Arlando Hale

Mr. and Mrs. Hale observe 55th wedding anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Arlando (Alma) Hale of Granite City celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary at the home of their son, Ernest Hale of Glen Carbon, on Aug. 31. The couple was married at Fredericktown, Mo., on Aug. 26, 1932.

An evening barbecue and potluck dinner was served and a decorated anniversary cake was prepared by Boneva Rolens.

The couple has four children, Mrs. Larry (Boneva) Rolens and Ernest L. Hale, both of Glen Carbon, Mrs. Sam (Nadine) Grace, St. Louis, and the Rev. Larry E. Hale of Minneapolis, Minn. They also have 14 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

Other guests present included a brother, Steve Hale, and family, Mr. and Mrs. Paul VanGilder and Mr. and Mrs. Larry York, all of Granite City, Henrietta Thompson, Glen Carbon; and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Meyers, Grafton.

Hale is a semiretired minister with the Assemblies of God. He served as pastor at Glen Carbon Assembly of God Church for many years and now visits hospitals, nursing homes and shut-ins and serves as protom for other ministers.

The couple plan a trip to the Ozarks at a later date in celebration of their anniversary.

Cickas observe 50th year

A surprise 50th wedding anniversary dinner party was given for Paul and Mary Cicka of Antioch, Calif., formerly of the Quad-City area, by their children.

Hosting the social event were Dick and Dot Steele, Mike and Arlene Nuglich, Paul Cicka Jr., Ed and Sally Cicka, and Otis and Marie Johnstone, at the latter's home.

Friends and relatives attended, and the honorees received several long-distance telephone calls from those unable to attend.

After a champagne toast, the guests of honor danced to the "Anniversary Waltz," and then cut and served a two-tier decorated cake. Barbecued lamb was prepared for the dinner.

Cloverview Club studies Kalmia

The Cloverview Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. George Knapp, Edwardsville, for a desert luncheon served to Mrs. Kenneth Brokaw, Mrs. Clarence Etheridge, Mrs. Charles Gandorla, Mrs. B.C. O'Neill, Louise Sedlack, Mrs. George Sterns, Mrs. Donald Tabor and Mrs. Albert Taylor.

Following lunch, Vice President O'Neill opened the meeting with the group who recited the club collect in unison. Each member named from memory a plant or garden from childhood in answer to roll call.

O'Neill announced that "Flower Females of Fact and Fiction," a standard flower show, will be presented by District V Garden Clubs of Illinois Inc. on Sept. 26 at First Presbyterian Church, 201 East Church St., Collinsville. Several members will participate by taking plants for horticulture and flower arrangements. Several will serve at the hospitality table.

A Conservation and Environmental Education Conference on "Plants and Animals — a Meaningful Relationship" will be held at the Brookfield Zoo Discovery Center, Brookfield, Ill., on Sept. 28.

A plant and garage sale will be held Oct. 2 at 1 Terrace Lane.

Taylor gave a talk on "Kalmia: Mountain Laurel." Also known as the Calico Bush, it is an attractive shrub that may grow to 20 feet or more, but usually is from 6 to 10 feet tall. It is a native of eastern North America. At a distance, the bush, when not in flower, bears some resemblance to a rhododendron. It is a hardy and splendid evergreen, O'Neill said.

Etheridge will host the next meeting.

Alpine Takayama preserved in time

The snow-capped mountains of the Japan Alps form the dramatic backdrop in the town of Takayama in central Japan.

Dubbed "little Kyoto," Takayama's temples and shrines, festivals and cross-patterned streets are reminiscent of the rustic charm of Japan's ancient capital city of Kyoto.

Takayama has remained remarkably untouched by the passage of time. The Sanmachi Suji district abounds with rows of traditional wooden homes of merchants and winemakers. A glimpse of daily life in the region can be seen at the Hida Folk Village where more than 30 farmhouses and buildings were transported from nearby mountain villages for preservation.

"Gassho," meaning two hands in prayer, is the name of the common architectural style of the region. It is so called because in order to withstand heavy snowfall, the angle of the thatched roofs are steep resembling hands in prayer.

Takayama has daily morning markets in front of Takayama Shrine and along the Miyagawa River, where colorfully clad farmers sell their fresh produce and pickles, a specialty of the region. Other culinary delights include mountain vegetables, vegetables and bean paste grilled in a magnolia leaf and buckwheat noodles.

The regional arts and crafts consist of pottery, carved decoration pieces and a line of attractive, inexpensive jewelry of yew wood which make ideal souvenirs.

Although it is possible to walk from one end of Takayama to the other in less than 30 minutes, it is recommended that two days be spent to leisurely see the many attractions, all of which are marked by English language sign posts, and to hike in the nearby hills.

The best time to visit Takayama is during autumn or spring festivals in October and April. Lavishly decorated floats, some with intricate clockwork marionettes, make the Takayama festivals two of the most impressive in all of Japan.

Takayama is easily accessible from Tokyo and Kyoto/Osaka via the bullet train to Nagoya. At Nagoya, change to a local train for the three-hour ride into the mountains.

For a free brochure and guide on Takayama, write: Japan National Tourist Organization, 333 Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60601. The phone number is (312) 332-3975.

Revelers flock to world beer capital

St. Louis loves beer but Munich is considered the unofficial beer capital of the world. And they have the biggest beer blast to prove it.

Even if we combined crowds from Strassentest and the VP Fair, we couldn't equal the mayhem of Oktoberfest. It began Sept. 19 and runs through Oct. 4. Last year, Oktoberfest drew 6.7 million people. Hotels in Munich have to be booked a year in advance.

One of the closest hotels is The Krone, at Theresienhohe 8. Rooms start at DM120 or $66. The Westfalia, at Mozartstrasse 23, is less expensive. Rooms are about DM65 or $36.

There are dozens of hotels within six blocks of the Oktoberfest grounds. The greatest concentration is along Schwanthaldenstrasse.

Once you arrive at Oktoberfest, you can eat, drink and be merry. Bavarian specialties are washed down with a million gallons of beer. You can partake of five dozen oxen braised whole on the spit, 30,000 grilled fish, 800,000 pork sausages and 600,000 chickens.

A COUPLE in traditional Bavarian costumes toast the Oktoberfest.

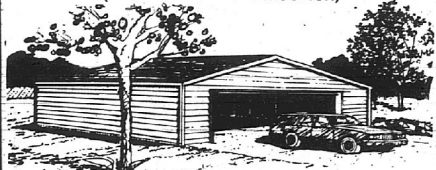

Munich starts constructing massive beer tents in early August and one beer tent accommodates 5,000 people. Each year, the wooden tents are torn down, because the grounds are used for other special events.

Stone burns Quincy (ND) again

By Dave Whaley

Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY The next time you drive into Quincy you might see a sign that reads something like this:

"Welcome to Quincy — everyone except Scott Stone."

Stone spent his last two Saturday afternoons bursting the bubble of Quincy's two high school soccer teams. He got the only goal in defeating Quincy at Flinn Stadium on Sept. 19, then repeated the feat at the Gauntlet on Saturday, scoring with 13:47 to play for a 1-0 Warrior win over Quincy Notre Dame.

It was Senior Day as the Warriors' 16 upperclassmen were honored along with the senior cheerleaders, so it was almost inevitable that an underclassman would ruin things by getting the only goal. It was the fifth goal of the year for Stone, a fleet junior.

"We're going to play them again next year, so they'll probably be looking for me," said Stone of his success against Quincy teams. "It was a good pass by Herb."

Herb Heaton sent Stone into the clear with a lead pass seconds after a Raider corner kick. The Warriors knocked the ball out of their own zone and Heaton sent the ball ahead and Stone outran Raider fullback Bill Siebers to the ball. Craig Hilbing came way out of the net to cut down the angle, but Stone tapped it by him and the ball rolled slowly into the goal.

"Herbie made a very nice pass on the play," said Warrior coach Gene Baker. "It was nice to see because Herbie fights himself at times. He has lots of ability and he needs to make it work for him."

The goal was a nice touch of speed and finesse in a game which was filled with everything but those qualities. It was rough, although only 38 fouls were called. That was an average total for a Warrior game this year, but many fouls weren't called and some that were weren't as flagrant as those that went uncalled.

"They were a very physical team," Baker said of the Raiders, the 1985 state champions who fell to 3-2 with the loss. "We were taking some vicious hits near the goal all day. They get into a thing where they will let three or four pretty good hits go by and then call someone for a touch."

"There was some rough play on both sides," Raider coach Frank Longo said. "But Granite City made the play they had to. They have a very fine team and I wish them good luck."

The first Warrior goal in a home game this year is usually time to chalk up another one in the win column. With only one home game with Collinsville remaining — outside of the Tournament of Champions next week — Granite City has yet to allow a goal at home in 1987. They have outscored their opponents 26-0 at the Gauntlet in winning all six games. They have outscored the opposition 37-3 this year in going 9-1, with eight wins in a row.

"We played pretty nice when we had a chance," said Baker. "But other teams are coming in here and seeing how much they can get away with. We're not getting the calls here."

One player who became a little frustrated with the rough play was Rick Pyle, not exactly one of the Warriors' enforcers at 5-3 and not much over 100 pounds. He committed two hard fouls after taking some abuse and earned a yellow card. Notre Dame had two cards in the game.

Ricky won't commit two fouls all year, but he goes after one of their guys," Baker said. "You just have to accept the way the game is going and keep your cool."

The Warriors started an all-senior lineup on Senior Day, meaning Stone and super sophomores Troy Adamitis and John Van Buskirk rode the bench for one quarter. Randy Chapman was in goal and barely escaped midway through the second quarter when Marty Meade bounced one off the crossbar and just missed with another point-blank shot on the rebound.

Van Buskirk had the Warriors' best chance when he banged a rebound off a corner kick through the goalmouth. Dan Wilson and Vince Darnell had good chances in the third period, but Hilbing made the saves. Van Buskirk then mistimed a header early in the fourth quarter. But Stone finally broke the ice at 66:10 on his breakaway.

Stone was confident about the game with Collinsville, which would go a long way toward wrapping up the Southwestern Conference title if the Warriors win.

"I think we should be able to handle them pretty good here," Stone said. "We have the speed to do it. Last time we played them was my first game and I was pretty nervous. But I'll be ready this time."

Maybe Stone will become a marked man in Collinsville as well as Quincy.

against Quincy.

NOTES: Krekovich played the second half to share the shutout with Chapman. The Warriors outshot the Raiders 16-8 and had 31 fouls to 27 for Notre Dame. Granite City had four corner kicks to one for the Raiders, while Hilbing made nine saves. Chapman and Krekovich made four saves between them. After the Tuesday game with Collinsville, the Warriors play at Belleville East on Thursday before starting the Tournament of Champions next Monday. The Warriors knocked off the defending state champions 2-1 at Collinsville on Sept. 10 behind Adamitis' two goals. Joe Reinger scored for the Kahoks, one of only three goals against Granite City this year. Vianney, which will be in the tournament, had the other two in the Warriors' only loss.

Hogan, Hylla highlight ex-Warriors in college

By Dave Whaley

Executive sports editor

There is definitely football life after high school for 11 of Ron Yates' former players.

Yates is proud of the fact he has so many ex-players in the college ranks, and some of them are doing quite well. They are at smaller colleges like Rose-Hulman Institute, Aurora College and Monmouth College. But there are others playing major college football at places like SIU-Carbondale, Missouri and Eastern Illinois.

Jamie Hogan has landed a spot as the No. 3 receiver on the Carbondale roster. The sticky-fingered receiver has yet to appear in the Salukis' first four games, but his chances for success are pretty good.

"The coaching staff really likes him a lot," said Fred Huff, sports information director at SIUC. "He has a tremendous set of hands and they like the way he catches everything."

Hogan is behind two sophomores — Wesley Yates and Michael Brown — but made the squad as a walk-on. That can lead to bigger and better things.

"As many as 50 percent of our scholarship players were walk-ons at one time," Huff said. "I would think, even though I'm not the one that makes that decision, that Hogan will have a good shot at earning a scholarship before the end of this school year."

Jamie has a soft pair of hands and great concentration for the football," said Saluki wide receiver coach Charlie Stroger. "He is a possession style receiver but has deceptive speed. Jamie always finds a way to get open."

Jamie might not play much this year, but that could be a good sign for him.

"If they really think he has a lot of potential, they might not play him much at all and red-shirt him," Huff said. "That way he will still have four years of eligibility when next season starts."

"Jamie is a player who can really surprise some people if he gets a chance," Yates said. "I think he's going to make some people sorry they didn't offer him a scholarship. If he gets to play and doesn't get hurt, he could really be a player."

Hogan said his pro football idol is Steve Largent of the Seattle Seahawks. Largent was another receiver thought to be too small and slow while at Tulsa University, but he has caught more than 500 passes in an NFL career that could take him to the Hall of Fame.

Hogan earned all-conference recognition in football, basketball and baseball at GCIS. He was honored as a first-team defensive back on the Chicago Tribune all-state team and as an all-state wide receiver by the Chicago News-Gazette, as a senior. He caught 55 passes for 837 yards from his twin brother Tim for 11 touchdowns and added six interceptions — five in one game against Cahokia when he returned one for a touchdown.

He has not declared a major, but is leaning towards political science.

Another ex-Warrior, Kurt Hylla, has made it onto the Missouri Tiger roster as a reserve safety. Hylla's is an inspirational story. He suffered broken ankles in each of last two years in high school, but persevered and had a fine career at Trilon Junior College in the Chicago area.

He fulfilled his dream of going to Missouri and is now wearing the black and gold.

"I wish the best for him," Yates said. "Kurt is just a super young man. He was one of my favorites and I want to see him do well."

The Warriors also have a pipeline running up to Aurora, Ill., with four former players up there. Pat Griffith is a starting cornerback and Ed Coelan has a chance to start at wide receiver. Both are 1986 graduates of GCIS. A pair of 1987 GCIS graduates are also trying to earn some playing time. Paul Sutter is a running back and Scott LeVault is an offensive center/defensive tackle. Wendell Wilson, a 1986 graduate of Madison High School, also plays for Aurora.

Ryan Weeks was the leading scorer as a place-kicker for Tennessee Tech as a freshman in 1986 and will be the Golden Eagles' kicker again this year. Jimmy Parkes, who booted the field goal that was the difference in the Warriors' 17-14 win over East Tennessee State, is on the Eastern Illinois roster.

Other ex-Warriors include Chris Reuter at Rose-Hulman Institute in Terre Haute, Ind.; Eric Ryterski at Monmouth College; and Lonnie Cook at SIUC. "It's nice to see so many former players playing college ball and doing well," Yates said.

Stars win KC tournament on penalty kicks

The Stars kept up their winning ways by winning the Johnson County (Mo.) Tournament over the weekend.

GCC gained a win and a tie in the tournament, but won the event on penalty kicks after playing to a 1-1 tie with the host school on Saturday. Dave Stosberg scored for the Stars in regulation time. Then Todd Jones, Stosberg and Tom Bufe scored on penalty kicks while Scott Clynes — who received tournament MVP honors — stopped two of four penalty kicks by Johnson County to secure the win.

The game will go down in the books as a 1-1 tie. Bufe scored the only goal in a 1-0 win over Bethany Lutheran (Minn.) on Friday. Clynes got the shutout in that game.

The Stars are 5-2-2 and resume Midwest Community College Athletic Conference action today when they host Meramec in a 3 p.m. game.

"We're gaining confidence all the way," said Stars coach Larry Petri. "The win over Lewis and Clark was a big one for us and we wanted to keep something going over the weekend. We feel pretty good about how we're playing. It's hard to tell about Meramec with their 5-4 record. But we will be ready."

Gushieff pours in 6 more The Trojan soccer team gained its first shutout of the year and let the amazing Jerry Gushieff do his magic against Weslin on Friday.

Terry Jackson gained the shutout in goal while Gushieff poured in five more goals for a 5-0 win in Mid-South Conference action. Gushieff has scored 19 goals in seven games this year. In addition to the five-goal game, he has had two games of four goals each. He scored two goals in the
